

Radio Girl

© 1972 Mark Hamby

From the One More Night Like This CD

You think she's in love with someone new Cause she didn't stay as long as you would have liked her to
In all your dreams she never leaves you alone, oh no
She's the charmer from the midnight radio show

She carries you far away from here
Her music is soft, her voice is clear as the water that lies above the sea
You watch it shine in your darkened room
She's the temptress from the northern silver and blue

Let your mind wander on
Let your love have its swan song
Gracefully and you know she can stay just as long as you like

She starts as a shadow, long and deep
And breaks at the surface, smooth and sleek as a dolphin that plays above the sea
You watch her slide through your darkened room
She's the temptress from the northern silver and blue

Let your mind wander on
Let your love have its swan song gracefully
And you know she can stay just as long as you like

She's held a dozen magic nights
Her words have doused the cold streetlights
She waits for you beside the rainbow's end

That city charm's especially nice
To calm the soul and break the ice
Her country arms surround you

Once again wander on
Let your love have its swan song gracefully
And you know she can stay just as long as you like

Tonight she will grant another chance
And cast over you a lover's trance for the long night ahead
The trick is clear, just fall asleep right before she goes
And keep the charmer from the midnight radio show